Part I

Sediment–Water Interactions 12

Sub-Editor

H. L. Golterman

Editorial
H. L. Golterman 3–4

Effect of inorganic sediment on whole-stream productivity
Kenneth L. Parkhill, John S. Gulliver 5–17

Assessment of possible sediment toxicity of contaminated sediments in Port Jackson, Sydney, Australia
Gavin F. Birch, Stuart E. Taylor 19–27

Discharge of sediments, nitrogen (N) and phosphorus (P) during the emptying of extensive fishponds: effect of rain-fall and management practices
Damien Banas, Gérard Masson, Lionel Leglize, Jean-Claude Pihan 29–38

Interrelations between iron extractability and phosphate sorption in reflooded air-dried sediments
S. Qiu, A. J. McComb 39–44

Phosphate dynamics in the Middle Paraná wetlands using ^{32}P isotopic technique
M. C. Panigatti, M. A. Maine 45–51

Phosphorus sedimentation in seasonal anoxic Lake Scharmützel, NE Germany
Andreas Kleeberg 53–65

Longitudinal patterns of phosphorus and phosphorus binding in sediment of a lowland lake–river system
Uwe Selig, Günter Schlungbaum 67–76

An assessment of a simple method for estimating the relative contributions of point and diffuse source phosphorus to in-river phosphorus loads
J. Hilton, P. Buckland, G.P. Irons 77–83

Phosphate in the sediments of the Gulf of Lions (NW Mediterranean Sea), relationship with input by the river Rhone
Nathalie Van Den Broeck, Thierry Moutin 85–94

Phosphorus-leaching from litterfall in wetland catchments of the Swan Coastal Plain, southwestern Australia
S. Qiu, A.J. McComb, R.W. Bell 95–105

Archimedes and a too simple model of competition between a macrophyte and phytoplankton
H. L. Golterman 107–117

Guidelines for authors for the sediment issues of Hydrobiologia 119

Part II
Regular Articles

The influence of earthquakes on large lacustrine ecosystems, with particular emphasis on Lake Sevan, Armenia
S. Z. Gulakyan, I. P. Wilkinson 123–130

Alona brandorffi* sp. n. (Crustacea: Anomopoda: Chydoridae) – a new species from Brazil, related to A. verrucosa Sars, 1901
Artem Y. Sinev, Werner Hollwedel 131–140

A preliminary revision of sordidus-like species of Ilyocryptus Sars, 1862 (Anomopoda, Branchiopoda) in North America, with description of I. bernerae n. sp.
Alexey A. Kotov, Manuel Elías-Gutiérrez, Judith L. Williams 141–176

Structure and variation of the Paraguay River phytoplankton in two periods of its hydrological cycle
Yolanda Zalocar de Domitrovic 177–196

Distribution and habitat utilization in two atyid shrimps (Crustacea: Decapoda) in rivers of Nuku-Hiva Island (French Polynesia)
Odile Fossati, Merri Mosseron, Philipe Keith 197–206

Redescription of Ilyocryptus sarsi Stingelin, 1913
Alexey A. Kotov, Henri J. Dumont, Kay Van Damme 207–222

Evaluation of a sweep net electrofishing method for the collection of small fish and shrimp in lotic freshwater environments
A.J. King, D.A. Crook 223–233

Physical and chemical post-dam alterations in the Jamari River, a hydroelectric-developed river of the Brazilian Amazon
João Paulo Viana 235–247

Late fall phytoplankton dynamics in three lakes, Rocky Mountain National Park
Sarah E. Kolesar, Diane M. McKnight, Summer B. Waters 249–263
